favorites landed four of the six events public backers did well as the general result. Public form proved a true guide in three instances, but the other events went to horses about whom nothing had been shown this season. And the general public was at a corresponding disadvantage.

Had that fast mare Belle of Jessamine been out before this season and shown that she was in shape she would have been at odds on instead of 5 to 1, the quotation against her yesterday; but Scarfell had shown so well in his last race that the Ca-nadian horse was made favorite over the field, although his train liked a longer distance. although his trainer said the horse Water Dog warmed up so well that he was always second choice, and enough money went on him to lower his price several points. The other two were not seriously considered, as it looked a three-horse race any way one looked at it. So cleverly did Belle of Jessamine win that this fast mare will be held in respect hereafter. She had worked six furlongs in 1.17 for this race, but as her young trainer did not think that quite good enough the Maryland delegation only backed her for a

The Belle, however, was better than her people thought, for she outbroke and out-ran Scarfell at all stages of the race. And as Water Dog got away last to a slow break he never was in the hunt, although he closed up into third place. The winner is a very bloodlike mare by St. George, and in a mile in 1.39 last season.

A different proposition confronted all hands in the seven furlongs dash. Jerry C., Parkville and Buttons all had support, and Delphie, Beldemo and others were also well thought of. But a plunge on Buttons soon made him the favorite. Early birds got as good as 4 to 1, and the horse carried a big stable commission. The others named were backed mostly for a place, while Hoot Mon at the last moment was

Marston showed speed, but falled to stay, while Desideratum works

The hardest jolt of the day for backers was the overthrow of the Aldine colt Su-perstition in the two-year-old selling race. On his shrong showing with Jubilee and Glaucus, the Virginia-bred colt looked a "moral," as the English say. And he was always a natural favorite at odds on. The Garth filly Kitty Smith was the only one played to beat him, although some sup port was awarded the Madden gelding Ser vile and the Doswell filly Easter Belle latter is small, but she showed speed in her warm-up, and a good many of the ralibirds backed her for a part of the money.

Marster Shows Improvement.

Easter Belle justified her warm-up by setting such a hot pace from the rise of in Boston from Cincinnati at 9:30 last night the barrier that she soon had all hands on and left on the first train this morning for "tiptoes" to keep up with her. Servile carried Superstition wide into the homestretch, and then went on after Easter Belle, closing so gamely that he just caught the Virginia filly in the final rod. Kitty Smith, who got away slowly, came with a rush up the stretch and beat Superstition a head for third place. With an even

GALLAUDET BOYS NOSED OUT CENTRAL

A close and exciting game was played yesterday afternoon at Kendall Green between the Gallaudet College and Central High School teams, in which the former came out victorious by a score of 5 to 4. The contest was marked by clean fielding and sensational catches.

Holliday was on the firing line for the "Mutes" for the first five innings, when he was supplanted by Dillon. Rheem did the box stunt for the High School team. Morris did the best work with the stick Morris did the best work with the stick for the winners, getting three hits out of four times up. George Washington Plays Syracuse. The George Washington Hatchetites play their last game before leaving on their annual southern trip tomorrow evening, the strong team from Syracuse University being slated to oppose them on the diamond. This is the second game of the season between the teams, Syracuse having won the first by a comfortable margin. The Buff and Blue collegians, however, expect to get back at them in tomorrow's game with a vengeance, and doings should result. Coach Cummings anticipates showing a much al-tered front to the enemy, the infield particularly having been changed, and the friends of the team are looking forward with considerable interest to the result. The game will be called at 4:15 sharp.

Graham Held the Hoosiers Down to Two Hits and Only One Run.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 4.-Manager Cantillon's Nationals butted into a pitchers battle here yesterday, and after a good struggle defeated Indianapolis by the score of 8 to 1. Graham, secured from California by the Nationals, was on the rubber for the visitors, and his work was of the highest class, only two hits being made by the opposing batsmen. By a strange freak of luck both of these hits were doubles, and came together in the second inning, driving the Hoosiers' only run over the rubber. Graham's speed was of the lightning order, and with it was good control, a combination that will win for a southpaw three times out of four. Graham's support was also gilt-edged, a foozle by Schlafly being the only break charged against the Nationals.

Fisher and Kellum also pitched good ball Fisher and Kellum also pitched good ball for the Indianapolis team, but their support was somewhat off color, Hopke and Hare at third and second, making four misplays between them. Only five hits were placed to the credit of the Nationals, and of this number "Nig" Perrine secured a double and a single.

The Nationals had a lightning outfield working yesterday, the result of Lave Cross being under the weather. Anderson was sent to first, Nill to third and Shlafly back to second. This sent Charley Jones back to second. This sent Charley Jones into left field, and with Altizer in center down inside the fences was gobbled up instanter. This trio had eight chances be-tween them, four of which were very hard, and the confident way they went after the balls made the onlookers applaud heartily. Big John Anderson at first was also a "candy kid," having twelve put-outs and one assist. Several throws to John were difficult to handle, but he clearly demonstrated the control of the strated that with Hickman, Blankenship and himself Joe Cantilion need not worry over Jake Stahl's desertion. A rapid-fire delivery of errors gave Washington two runs in the second session. Jones was safe at first on a misplay by Hopke at third. Altizer sacrificed. Anderson hit a grounder to Derringer at short, derson hit a grounder to Derringer at short, who threw to Hopke to nip Jones at third, but Hopke dropped the ball and Anderson and Jones were both safe. Anderson stole second. Perrine walked, filling the bags. Hare made a wild throw on Warner's hot one, and Jones and Anderson tallied, Perrine going to second and Warner being safe at first. Graham forced Perrine at third. Ganley sent one to Carr, who passed it along to Fisher, who covered first.

Fisher dropped it and Ganley was safe, again filling the bases, but Schlafly was a snap for Hopke and Carr, the the three runners were marooned.

BIG BOWLING TOURNEY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., April 4.—Bowlers gathered from far and near to see the contestants roll in the National Bowling Association tournament here yesterday afternoon and evening. In the afternoon Heiles and Stein, a Corinthian pair from New York, rolled 1,148 in the two-man, and about the same time Seiver and Frecks, another New York team, totaled 1,129. Alden and Cellers of Newark failed to get better than 900. No new high totals were made.

Chief interest centered in the five-man contests during the evening. There were contests during the evening. There were two squads, making sixteen teams in all. In the first squad the well-known O'Learys of Chicago appeared, but the record holders failed to get going and had to be content with 2,551. The Keystone team of New Brunswick totaled 2,584, or a pin less than the Mascottes of Buffale. The Brunswick five of Chicago stopped at 2,522.

In the second squad, which appeared later in the evening, were the Roseville Athletic Association bowlers, champions of the Athletic League; the Tuxedo Colts of Newark and the Germania and Imperial fives of Brooklyn. Commenting upon the rumors as to Demarest's amateur standing, Daly said that while the young player had apparently, although not provenly, been at fault, he had come out openly and had declared to the officials of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players that it was not mostly to sparring and clinching. In this round they fiddled and clinched for fully a minute before a hard blow was struck. Robson landed a few light blows to face and kidneys, and in return received several right-hand jolts on the chin. Some hard infighting followed, but neither was hard infighting followed, but neither was damaged to any extent. As the round ended Attell landed a left on Robson's nose.

The second round was much faster than the first. The American landed first with a light left to neck. Robson jabbed left to nose and they exchanged rights to jaw.

Robson then swung both to head, but be-fore he could get away was struck three jabs on the face.
Robson swung left to ear and landed two left jabs on mouth. He also sent to jaw and a left to nose. Attell hooked two lefts to face and jabbed Robson several light blows to face. Both were strong as the bell rang.

This was Robson's round. Neither had a decided advantage in the next round. It was slow and the fighters were clinched most of the time. Not a telling blow was struck. The fourth round was fast and much in favor of the English fighter. He started the round with a right smash to the breast and received a light left to the face in return. Robson then sent three hard lefts to the jaw and exchanged a left to the jaw. With a right-hand swing to the jaw Robson forced Attell to break ground. In return for a light left to face Robson jabbed three lefts to the nose and then hooked two lefts to the jaw. Attell landed several light blows on Robson's body in this round, but none of them had sufficient force in them to annoy the Englishman. The fifth was also Robson's round. He repeatedly landed hard right and left swings on Attell's body and received few hard blows in return.

It was the fastest round of the fight. Both boys rushed at each other like en raged tigers when the bell rang for the last round. They slashed and banged each other to head, face and body, but neither had enough power in his blows to land a knockout. Attell was bleeding from the mouth and nose. Robson had the more power in his blows and did the most dam-

COULD NOT SEE MOTHER ILL. Fifteen-Year-Old Clerk Hanged Himself-News Kept From Her.

NEW YORK, April 4.-Harry Willbrock, who keeps a grocery store at 157 Stuyvesant avenue, Brooklyn, missed his fifteenyear-old clerk, Frederick Zollinger of 779 Gates avenue, about 6 o'clock last night. He did not hunt for him until an hour later, when he started to close the store for the night. In a rear room he found the youth dead, hanging by a rope from an iron

Apparently the lad killed himself because he could not bear to witness the suffering of his mother, for whom he had an unusual affection. For weeks she has been ill with stomach trouble. Every day Zollinger left the grocery store and spent a few hours at her bedside. He read to her and talked to her in an effort to lighten her suffering. Often he had to turn away to wipe the tears from his eyes. Yesterday when he paid his visit he found his mother in agony. He went back to the store much affected. Frederick Zollinger, the lad's father, who keeps a paint shop at the Gates avenue address, ordered that the body be kept away from his home for fear that if the mother heard of her boy's death the blow would kill her. When the boy did not return home last night the mother asked repeatedly for

"Freddie is going to stay at the store to-night," said the boy's younger sister, and then the woman went to sleep.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.- The first Chinese nun in the history of the Order of the Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary was invested with the veil, the cincture and the scapular at the Catholic Cathedral of Honolulu March 21, to be known as Sister Aleda. She was Miss Mary Wong Leong, the only daughter of Wong Leong, one of the best-known and wealthiest merchants and rice planters in Hawaii. Miss Wong Leong, on the paternal side, is wholly Chinese. On the maternal side her grandfather, a Chinaman, is still living, and her grandmother, who is also living, is part Hawaiian. Her father's household has always been maintained as a Chinese household.
